PLAYING A WITNESS.

Methods of Two Famous Cross-Examiners of the Irish Bar. Two famous cross-examiners at the Irish bar, says Francis L. Wellman in "The Art of Cross Examination," were Sergeant Sullivan, afterward master of the rolls in Ireland, and Sergeant Armstrong. Barry O'Brien in his "Life of Lord Russell" describes their methods with perjured witnesses.

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, seemed to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, looked surprised at what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"Ah, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"So playing the witness with caution and skill, drawing him stealthily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little sergeant' waited until the man was in the meshes and then flew at him and shook him as a terrier would a rat."

"The big sergeant (Armstrong) had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness and made everybody else laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounded him like a champion in the ring."

LONDON STREET CRIES.

They Must Have Made the City a Bedlam in Olden Days.

London must have been a lively city in the days when the street crier joined in competition with the bell of the postman and the mufin man. The boy who goes round the streets with the early morning cry of "Hot rolls!" still lingers in the outer suburbs, but the old street crier has long been silent in the land.

Some of the ancient cries have been collected by Frederick W. Hackwood in his book, "The Good Old Times." They include "Cherry Ripe, O!" "Baking or Boiling Apples;" "Green Hastings" (these were early peas); "Lavender, sweet lavender, six bunches a penny," or perhaps "Rabbits, wild rabbits," and when there was a good catch of fish it might be "Mackerel, O!" or "Herrings, alive, all alive!" "Some of the cries," writes Mr. Hackwood, "would sound strange to the ear now, as 'Bandboxes,' 'Baskets,' 'Buy a broom,' 'Hair brooms,' 'Hot spiced gingerbread,' 'Brick dust,' 'Send, O! 'Bellows to mend,' 'Chairs to mend,' 'Bill of the play.' More familiar perhaps were 'Old clothes,' 'Cats and dogs' meat' and 'Just O!'"

"Now we are reduced to little more than the shriek and howl which are supposed to represent milk and coals."—London Chronicle.

If you pay cash for your footwear you will trade at Diamond's Shoe Store. A customer came into my store and asked for a pair of shoes on credit. I told him we don't do a credit business, but sell our shoes a whole lot cheaper. He said that he was willing to pay more and buy on time. I didn't sell him. Another customer came in. He said, "Diamond, I want three pairs of shoes. I pay cash for what I buy and I trade where I can do the best." It took me ten minutes to sell him three pairs of shoes and he has been buying his shoes here ever since. Don't buy your shoes in credit stores. If you are willing to pay cash come to Diamond's store 113 W. B street, and save money.

Deceived by a Cloud.

The instinct of animals is sometimes supposed to be more infallible than human reason, but a scientist's observations of the katydid rather contradict that opinion. The katydid, with its musical membranes, produces two distinct "songs," one peculiar to the night and familiar to everybody; the other a daytime tune, which is rather a rasp than a melody. According to the scientist mentioned, it is sometimes quite comical to hear the singers suddenly change their tune when a dark cloud obscures the sun, immediately resuming their daytime song when it has passed. This recalls the hens that go to roost during a solar eclipse.

The Chatham Chest.

Carefully preserved at Greenwich (England) hospital is the famous Chatham chest. It is a great box curiously wrought, its iron body being crossed and recrossed by strengthening bands of steel. It was the nearest approach the artificers of Elizabeth's age ever made to the modern iron safe and was worked with special care, since it was the repository of the funds of the great naval charity. In 1683 it was felt that something should be done for England's disabled sailors who had so nobly upheld her prestige on the sea against practically the whole world. So the Chatham chest was instituted.

Strictly Business.

"To whom do you wish to make your benefit certificate payable?" asked the officer of the fraternal order.

"To my sweetheart," said the candidate for initiation.

"According to the laws of our order you'll have to marry her first."

"Say, hold up this initiation about fifteen minutes and I'll go and attend to that."—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Wonderful Financing.

First Sport—Dickson is a wonderful financier.

Second Sport—How?

First Sport—He borrowed a nickel from me this morning to take him up town to see a man that he could borrow $5 from, and with that $5 he blew off another man that he borrowed $50 from.

An Old Delusion.

Father of the Fair One—How can you possibly think of marrying my daughter? You say that by the strictest economy you can save only $10 a month! Poor but Worthy Post—Oh, yes, but if we both save it will be $20! —Meggendorfer Blatter.

Base Ingratitude.

Father to his son, a doctor—If this isn't the limit! I pay all that money for you to study medicine, and the first thing you do is to cut me off my drink.—Flegende Blatter.
